NOTE

It is a separate category of scientific manuscripts. It describes a technique, an apparatus, a new species or observations and surveys of limited data sets, non-reproducible experiments, or other unique situations, including field experiments of short duration and software development. Notes are not divided into sections, as is the Original Research Article. The only heading is for the Abstract, with a maximum of 200 words. The manuscript should have a maximum of 20 pages (A4 paper) and up to a total of 4 figures and/or tables (combined). A poorly written manuscript with an inappropriate methodology or not well-discussed results should not be considered a NOTE. In this case, the manuscript should not be accepted for publication.
